

Area Target: 6 - VzV

Click here to begin the audio recording.

[A husband and wife are talking about the newspaper.]

- A. Do you have some scissors? I'd like to save this article about an exhibit at the Museum of Physical Science.
- B. What's on the back? If it's the *Business section or advertisements, just tear it out.
- A. It's the Music and *Arts section.
- B. Let me see if there's anything I'm interested in. (Takes paper). Let's see..There's a new president of the conservatory; a list of the library's CD acquisitions; season tickets to the orchestra are now available; the *actors' strike has been resolved. OK. There's no reason you can't take the whole section.
- A. Good. I guess I don't need any scissors after all.

Wayne B. Dickerson

confusing	misery
lazy	dizzy
easy	horizontal disease	imposing
position	resident

*compound noun